Public Involvement Strategy for Nisqually Reach Watershed Protection Area Septic System Operation and Maintenance Proposal

What	Goal	Who	Where	When
• Open House	Inform and receive input about the proposal from residents in a person-to-person setting	All Nisqually Reach watershed residents invited Assistance from advisory committee members	Thurston County Fairgrounds Expo Center	January 2011
• Newsletter	Inform watershed residents of the proposal in written form.	Nisqually Reach Shellfish Protection District residents	Mail to each property owner in watershed	Mailed July 2010
• Website	Make project info readily available Provide electronic mailbox for citizens to comment	The world	http://www.co.thurston.wa.us/health/ehrp/nisqually.html	Activated Spring 2010
• FAQ sheet	Anticipate common questions and provide answers	Anyone interested	Website Handout at meetings / upon request	Ready for workshops
• Media Outreach	Inform the public via radio, TV, and newspaper	Thurston County public	Press releases, TCTV, Nisqually Valley News, Olympian editorial board, KGY	On-going
• Community meetings	Offer to meet with affected groups to provide information and get input	Homeowner Associations, Business groups, environmental group	Wherever the group meets	First quarter 2011
• Board Briefing	Review public comments Determine how to proceed	Board of Health	Courthouse	October 26, 2010 As project progresses in 2011
• Public Hearing	Consider program adoption	Board of Health	Location to be determined	Third quarter 2011