

What is the Thurston/Mason Mental Health Ombuds Service?

The State of Washington has established an independent Ombuds service to receive inquiries, comments, concerns, complaints and grievances from mental health clients whose services are paid for by Medicaid or other public funding. Contact can be initiated by clients, their family members or others.

What is the purpose of this service?

The service is designed to resolve issues quickly and in the best possible way. The Ombuds receives information concerning the quality of service and client satisfaction and assists in resolving issues quickly and confidentially. The Ombuds' primary goal is to help clients and providers work together to ensure dignified, timely and quality service and to assure that client rights are protected.

Who can use this Service?

Residents of Thurston and Mason Counties who are eligible to receive, or are receiving, publicly funded mental health services may use the Ombuds service.

What can the Ombuds do?

- Listen to your problem.
- Analyze what is involved and help you determine an appropriate solution.
- Explain and investigate facts, laws, policies and procedures.
- Mediate to resolve the problem on an informal level, if possible.
- Assist you in the complaint and grievance process and follow through until the complaint is resolved.
- Assure that your concerns are heard in the way in which you want them heard, clearly and unemotionally.
- Advocate for your mental health treatment choices and rights.
- Remain in contact with you to see that you are kept informed until the complaint is resolved.
- Provide information on resources and your rights.
- Recommend changes to correct a problem or prevent future occurrences.
- Maintain your confidentiality.

What can't the Ombuds Service Do?

- Provide services such as counseling or case management.
- Use your name without your consent.
- Provide medical opinions.
- Give legal advice or act as your attorney.
- Enforce a recommendation.
- Ensure any specific outcome.

What can you do to help the Ombuds help you?

- Be prepared to discuss your problem.
- Know what you want to have happen.
- Consider what would be fair to all.
- Keep the Ombuds informed of where you can be reached.
- Keep the Ombuds informed of changes which effect the problem and its solution.

What is an Ombuds?

An Ombuds is a helper whose job it is to assist you to solve problems you may have with your counselor, your case manager, your mental health clinic, or the agencies that help you get mental health care.
