Steroids
“Stealth injectables”

The following is a photograph of steroids confiscated by the Tumwater Police Department, during an investigation of possible illegal steroid sales. This investigation involves Tumwater High School students.

The packaging is referred to as “stealth” on a website advertising the product for sale. Please note how the packaging suggests the content is harmless. It says the substance is a natural “Aroma Therapy Oil”. Further investigation concluded the contents are illegal steroids.

These packages appear to be professionally manufactured, with good quality lettering and markings. They are about the same size and dimension as a handi-wipe towlette.

If any staff member discovers these type packets or similar items please contact local law enforcement.
