6. 6:46 P.M. CALENDAR

June 1, 2011 – All Commissioners will be in attendance.

The Commission took a brief recess until the start of public hearings at 7:00.

7. 7:00 P.M. PUBLIC HEARING: Development Code A-7 Retail Ag Products

Staff: Scott Longanecker

Chair Lane gave an overview of the hearing process. A public hearing is required prior to the Planning Commission recommendation to the Thurston County Board of County Commissioners.

Chair Lane opened the public hearing on Development Code A-7 Retail Ag Products.

Mr. Longanecker gave the Commission a brief overview of Development Code A-7 including the background and issue. Thurston County Resource Stewardship’s policy is to allow farm stands selling items grown on-site. Washington State law defines stands as a standard agricultural activity pursuant to RCW 7.48.310. Allowing agricultural sales operations and limited sales of products that were not raised on the property, or to sell products at non-farm locations could assist with the economic viability of local farms. The proposed amendment would allow retail sales of agricultural products raised on-site and allow similar sales in other locations deemed appropriate. The allowance should also include ancillary products and services. Local farms provide many benefits to the County and its residents. These benefits include preserving open space, creating employment, reducing urban sprawl and producing goods and services. A few brief clarifications were also given to the Commission then alternatives were discussed.

Members of the audience that chose to speak:

1. Galilee Carlisle – 7816 Libby Road NE Olympia, WA 98506 – Supports any efforts to keep farms viable. Believes that the six month time period to have a farm stand is inappropriate and the sign standards are small.

2. Glen Morgan – 17644 Old Highway 99 SE Tenino, WA 98589 – Believes that there are a lot of good things within this draft ordinance that will help farming. Also believes that it is against state law for the County to restrict sales of a farms own agricultural products on their own farm. The six month time period to have a farm stand open is concerning since agricultural products are year round.

3. Jim Zahn – 3323 Yelm Highway SE – Has had a farm stand on Yelm Highway for years. Discussed access issues with the farm stand requirements. Recommends the option 2. Does not believe that the sign standards should be limited if they are not restricting view etc. they have used a large banner for awhile that is much larger.

4. Debra Jaqua – 3104 59th Court SE Olympia, WA – Lives around the corner from Spooner’s Farm and has never found there larger sign to be restricting or intrusive. Has concerns with the six month limitation due to the year round produce.

Chair Lane closed the public hearing on Development Code A-7 Retail Ag Products.

Chair Lane opened the public hearing on Development Code A-10 Home Based Business Road Standards.

Mr. Longanecker gave the Commission a brief overview of Development Code A-10 including the background and issue. A-10 is a proposal to allow flexibility of rural road standards for new proposed home businesses. These businesses are classified as either home occupations or home based industries. The proposal is limited to changing the minimum road requirement under some circumstances for home businesses from a paved road to a gravel road built to County Road Standards. The proposed change would allow Thurston County to determine when paving would be required, or whether other mitigation such as a road maintenance agreement with Thurston County Public Works is sufficient.

1. Glen Morgan – 17644 Old Highway 99 SE Tenino, WA 98589 – Believes that this is a good direction to go with the ordinance.

Chair Lane closed the public hearing on Development Code A-10 Home Based Business Road Standards.

The Commission moved into a Work Session. It was noted that for the signage and time limit for farm stands that the restrictions are referenced from the building and fire codes that they are not just written into the draft ordinance they are referenced. A discussion ensued.
