

RESOLUTION NO. H-2-2018

A RESOLUTION declaring homelessness a public health crisis in Thurston County, directing the Director of the Thurston County Public Health and Social Services to lead the response, committing support for community wide efforts to reduce homelessness, and resolving to convene the Hazardous Weather Task Force and implement the hazardous weather plan.

WHEREAS, homelessness is a national, state, regional, and local issue affecting all of Thurston County, in both urban and rural areas, with the majority of those experiencing homelessness originating from Thurston County; and

WHEREAS, homelessness has devastating effects on human lives and severe health, safety, social, economic, and environmental impacts on cities, towns, neighborhoods, families, schools, businesses, healthcare facilities, and social service agencies; and

WHEREAS, the Thurston County Board of Health recognizes that many people seeking shelter, social services, transportation, and housing do so in urban areas where services and transportation are most accessible; and supports and joins the City of Olympia, which has the largest concentration of unsheltered residents, in working together and collaborating with all partners to find solutions; and

WHEREAS, Thurston County, through the Public Health and Social Services Department, provides approximately 5.8 million dollars each year to 35 nonprofit agencies that provide emergency shelter, coordinated entry, rental assistance, affordable housing, and other supportive services, and yet funding is inadequate to meet the growing population and demand; and

WHEREAS, the Thurston County Board of Health recognizes the vital contributions of nonprofits, faith-based organizations, community groups, advocates, and private citizens who provide temporary, permanent, and supportive housing, and other social and health services to those in need utilizing best practice approaches; and

WHEREAS, in a recent Thurston County survey conducted by Berk Consulting, homelessness was identified as the top concern and priority for citizens; and

WHEREAS, the cost of housing is rising, the vacancy rate for rental housing is nearing record lows, and there is not sufficient affordable housing in Thurston County all of which contribute to growing homelessness along with economic and family instability factors; and

WHEREAS, the number of people known to be experiencing homelessness in Thurston County on a given day has significantly risen in the past year with 835 persons counted in the Annual Point in Time Census; and

WHEREAS, in 2017, there were 1,670 children who experienced homelessness in Thurston County public schools, 38% of those experiencing homelessness are families with children, and young adults, children and families make up the majority of those without stable housing in our community; and

WHEREAS, domestic violence is also a serious public health issue that is the fourth ranking cause of homelessness, with survivors fleeing domestic violence representing ¼ of those experiencing homelessness in Thurston County; and

WHEREAS, 38% of those identified were unsheltered, living in outdoor places not fit for human habitation, including streets, parks, wooded areas, and cars, putting people at risk of serious health conditions, communicable diseases, and even death; and

WHEREAS, there are record numbers of people living in encampments where lack of access to drinking water, handwashing, toilets, proper food and medicine storage, and waste disposal poses a serious risk to all people and the environment; and

WHEREAS, physical health was the most commonly reported disability among those in our community experiencing homelessness, and people without housing have high rates of chronic physical and mental health conditions and are three times more likely to die early. Physical health complications commonly experienced by those without stable housing and shelter include hypothermia, injuries, chronic pain, musculoskeletal disorders, hunger, malnutrition, skin diseases, foot disorders, infectious diseases such as hepatitis A, B, & C, shigella, tuberculosis, influenza, immune disorders, HIV/AIDS, sexually transmitted diseases, dental problems, respiratory illnesses such as asthma, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, RSV, pneumonia, hypertension, diabetes, cancer, depression, post-traumatic stress disorder, and other illnesses; and

WHEREAS, nearly 1/3 of people experiencing homelessness were people of color which is disproportionate to the Thurston County population indicating serious racial disparities that need to be addressed; and

WHEREAS, vulnerable populations such as those that are disabled, and those that suffer from substance use disorders and mental illnesses need supportive housing options that are currently not sufficient to meet the needs; and

WHEREAS, the Thurston County Board of Health seeks to address practices and conditions that cause a threat to the public's health and the safety and welfare of our community;

NOW, THEREFORE, the Board of Health of Thurston County, State of Washington, under the authority of RCW 70.05.060 resolves:
